GOP and Democratic Candidates Speak Out

Bonner: 'Cunningham Backing Down on Proposed Debate'

Dr. Thomas Bonner, Democratic candidate for congress from Nebraska's Second District, spoke briefly at a Young Democrat rally in the Eppley Library lounge Wednesday morning.

Dr. Bonner said he chose to

run for Congress because there is "something deeply wrong" with Nebraska politics on the state and local levels.

"When Nebraska congressmen and senators vote consistently against the responsibilities of this nation and against progress at home, something is wrong," he said.

Some of the cases he cited were the Peace Corps, aid to education and the Trade Expansion Act. Responsible people and the majority of the Republican party supported these measures, yet Nebraska congressmen voted against them, he said.

Voice of Responsibility

"It is time for the state to have a progressive voice in Congress—a voice of responsibility," Bonner stated.

Asked if he thought he were getting as much local support in his campaign as from the Kennedy Administration, he said, "The only support I have is from workers and students."

"The World-Herald is against me, the American Medical Association advocates my opponent and the Teamsters are against me," he said.

Proposed Debate

Quizzed about a report that he had received $70,000 from the Democratic organization to finance his campaign, he said he had received no contributions from any party source in Nebraska.

Reader's Theater Meets Thursday

A Reader's Theater program, "World of Politics" will be given Thursday, November 8 at 7:00 p.m. in room 312 of the Student Center.

Reader's Theater has been defined as the "stage of the mind." Its programs are given monthly with each program having a different theme. Readings are selected from novels, essays, great speeches and political works.

Anyone interested in participating in Reader's Theater Productions can contact Mr. Warren Gore in room 315 Admin. Bldg.

Students Claim Paul's Playing Political Game

Of the proposed debate between himself and incumbent Republican Glenn Cunningham, Bonner said he hoped the debate would yet materialize.

He accused Cunningham of backing down.

The Democrat said it appeared that Cunningham had received advice to evade him.

Bonner said there should be a debate because "people ought to know where we stand on the issues."

"When a man has nothing to talk about, his campaign workers sometimes tend to get dirty with such things as whispering campaigns. However, I think we both disavow of this action," he said.

Bonner spoke to a crowd of more than 100, part were students assigned to analyze his speech.

YD's Retaliate

The Young Democrats at Omaha University retaliated this week against charges leveled at their organization by Mary Carlson, chairman of the OU Young Republicans.

"There is nothing understandable about picketing a program that you are either for or against," YD co-chairman David Hoffman said.

He was referring to Miss Carlson's charge that campaigners for Thomas Bonner, Democratic candidate for Nebraska's Second District Congressional post, had "arranged" for picketing of a rally for Rep. Glenn Cunningham, the GOP incumbent seeking another term.

Hoffman and Ed Tenney, another YD co-chairman, both denied the pickets were "planted by Bonner plotters" as Miss Carlson charged.

Should Prove It

"She should prove it or retract it," they said.

"We are not saying that the pickets were not Bonner people," they said, "but there was no plotting."

"Bonner Headquarters was informed of the planned picketing and gave its approval to the action," they said.

The YD heads also denounced Miss Carlson's charge that the Bonner campaign had hindered the YD organization at OU.

"We have signed up 29 members and that's the strongest we have been in several years. This I would attribute to the interest in Tom Bonner," Hoffman said.

Good Chance to Win

"We back Bonner mainly, rather than the Democratic candidates in general . . . because we feel that he has a good chance to win in a district that has been Republican for years. And a victory in the Second Congressional District would lead to responsible support for the President," they said.

Tenney slammed the YR's:

"The purpose of a college political group is to back ideas and to back the people whose ideas you favor. And particularly at election time, the best way to back these ideas is to back the candidates."

"While we are backing candidates on and off campus, they (YR's) are out here on campus playing Campfire Girl games."

"They seem to think that political activity is some kind of college intramural sport," Tenney said.

Cunningham: 'Bonner Just Out For Publicity With Debates'

Rep. Glenn Cunningham spoke Monday afternoon at a Young Republican rally attended by an estimated 50 persons in the Eppley Conference Center Auditorium.

Cunningham, a Republican, is campaigning for re-election from the second Congressional district.

Cunningham

He said there are two main issues in a political campaign:

—background, qualification and experience.
—philosophy that a candidate holds.

"A lot of candidates make a lot of promises, but when they get to Congress, they don't deliver," he said.

"A Congressman doesn't spend all his time voting," he said.

His time can be divided into thirds, he said — voting, committee meetings and taking care of the problems of the people in his district.

Of the proposed debates between himself and his opponent, Dr. Thomas Bonner, Cunningham said:

Just Out for Publicity

"Bonner is just out for publicity. I am not going to give it to him. I offered him a four-debate program and was not taken up on it. Bonner said he would debate only upon the condition there would be three additional debates. Nobody is going to tell me how to run my campaign."

Cunningham also said he would not debate because he had only three weeks to campaign.

29 Colleges Meet Here for Debate

Students from 29 Colleges and Universities representing nine states will be on the OU campus today and tomorrow to take part in the University of Omaha Discussion and Debate Tournament.

Nebraska, Iowa, Kansas, South Dakota, Missouri, Illinois, Wisconsin, Minnesota and Indiana will be represented.

They may enter four different areas of tournament competition. These are discussion, debate, extemporaneous speaking or oral interpretation. The debate teams will debate the national debate proposition.

The discussion area of the tournament will discuss: Should an economic community be established by non-communist nations. In oral interpretation the students will read poetry or prose or a combination of both.

"I remained in Washington until the end of the Congressional session. All Bonner wants is publicity," he said.

Asked whether resolution of the situation in Cuba would affect his campaign, he said, "I don't believe so because Cuba is an international problem."

"Neither do I believe that President Kennedy's firm stand concerning Cuba is a political maneuver," he said.

Cunningham is a graduate of Omaha University. "Because of this," he said, "I have always felt a deep attachment for OU."

Campaign Unfair

Mary Carlson, chairman of the OU Young Republicans, told the Cunningham rally this week that students on campus are apathetic toward politics.

"I would like to see more persons get interested and now is the time," she said.

Miss Carlson stated her belief that the political campaign is not being conducted fair and square.

"Out of 11 signs put up last week advertising the (Cunningham) rally, only two remained Monday morning. This same thing has been happening all over town," she said.

Political organizations such as the Young Democrats and Young Republicans should not be used to promote a single candidate," she said, "but all the candidates."

She said the OU YD's are promoting only one candidate—Dr. Thomas Bonner.

Space Authority Will Speak Next At World Affairs

The 17th Annual Institute of World Affairs will present the fourth lecture "What's Ahead In Space" on November 7th.

William Hines, a recognized authority on the space age, will present the lecture at 8:15 p.m. in the University auditorium. Mr. Hines has visited every significant center of space activity under the United States flag and has been cited for excellence for his series on the Mercury Astronauts which were widely syndicated through the North American Newspaper Alliance.

Mr. Hines received his degree at Guilford College in North Carolina in 1936. Before joining the Star in 1950 he worked for the Boston Transcript, the United Press Bureau in New York and the Chattanooga Times.

He has also had broad experience in the Washington and national political arena as reporter, editor and radio and television commentator.

Last Wednesday's lecture, "The European Common Market" by Leonard Tennyson was a survey of the origin and structure of the common market.

It was illustrated that the Common Market question is political as well as economic. Established in 1957 the countries of France, Germany, Italy, Belgium, Luxembourg, and the Netherlands are adopting common policies and establishing common tariffs. He said that the end result will be a political United States of Europe.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor,

I am writing in response to an article which appeared in The Gateway Friday last. A Miss Carlson of the Young Republicans unleashed a verbal outburst which did nothing more than to expose her obvious ignorance and general misunderstanding of the facts. I feel I must point out to her the error of her ways.

First, it is interesting that she attacked the Young Democratic Organization, yet no statement was made in behalf of the Republican congressional candidate. Could it be perhaps that the negative approach to government taken by the Second District's Representative leaves little room for enthusiasm?

Any party or organization which has a leader without a positive program often tries to hide behind an "abusive" tirade against the opposition candidate as no other path is open to them. Unless, of course, they take a "we are against everything" stand!

Secondly, Miss Carlson also hinted that actively working for one's candidate is something less than desirable. If this were the case, there would be no reason for the existence of such organizations as the Young Democrats or the Young Republicans.

Finally, the accusation that activity on behalf of Dr. Bonner "is hurting 'legitimate' political activity on the OU campus" is the most absurd. The Young Republicans under the leadership of Miss Carlson and not the Young Democrats have stooped to misinformed and questionable criticism. The Young Democrats on this campus have a positive cause to support. We are doing just that! Keeping, I might add, well within acceptable bounds.

Dear Editor,
I firmly believe in the quality of Omaha University. Each course I am taking is stimulating. Every professor I've come into contact with is of the best material as is every student I've met. The "Student" of O.U. is personable, ambitious, often humorous, and extremely individual.

However, I'm puzzled as to why the people of O.U. in general seem to think of others as a Greek first and secondly, as

Two District 66 Residents Challenge Taxation for OU

A suit has been filed in Omaha district court by two residents of School district 66, challenging the use of taxes paid by the residents of districts 66 and 54 to support the University of Omaha.

The suit, filed by Gerald L. Ratigan of 2514 Ridgewood Ave. and William G. Archibald of 8077 Gold St., contends that under a state law the Omaha School Board has the exclusive right to elect OU regents.

However, the plaintiffs contend they are not allowed to vote on members to the Omaha School Board and therefore have no voice in the election of OU regents.

Defendants in the suit are the Omaha University Regents, Board of Education members, an individual with a unique personality, dream, hope, and philosophy of life? Something else bothers me considerably. The cloud of a mistake has seemingly succeeded in obscuring all past service to O.U., all past respect of, and all confidence in a student of O.U. who is definitely a "Student" as described above.

It takes courage to come back under a cloud and rise above the blackness of a mistake. I'm counting on one particular student to possess this courage, and I'm counting on all others to act like adults, (adults forget easily.)

One more question—just what is so unusual about girls enjoying playing pool?!

Jan Paulsen
Freshman

November 6, 1962, is election day. Students who are of voting age, are registered and have the desire to have their political convictions counted, go to the polls to make their mark.

The price of our government keeps going up with everything else. One reason is that some politicians are wanting to make our government more inclusive. Another reason, perhaps, is that we are getting less for our money. You know, like a shrinking candy bar in a big wrapper.

The young voter today must be made aware of the fact that he is the taxpayer of tomorrow—the one who pays the bills that are created today.

He is the guy that will be head of the household on an income derived from his college and real world experience.

The seriousness of an individual's politics "comes home" and exposes his youthful folly when he hears his wife mention the need for a larger budget in the home.

He finds that the use of deficit spending policy doesn't work when it exceeds certain limits. Deficit spending today, especially is fatal to the family when an even larger chunk of tax is taken from the home income.

The theory that we can have what we want and have it now and pay later a little at a time works fine until you find the agency you are paying doesn't know how to say "NO" to anything labeled progressive.

J. D. Turner, Jr.

and Douglas County Treasurer Sam Howell.

The plaintiffs have asked for an injunction against the defendants, and an order requiring that the county treasurer audit all taxes and to hold such money in trust until a final order is entered.

The Douglas County Treasurer's office said District 66 and 64 residents paid $127,451.00 in taxes from October 1961 through September, 1962, to support OU.

The big chunk of that amount, $112,973.00 came from District 66.

The County Treasurer's office reports that the bulk of the money has already been received by OU.

District Judge Brodkey has set a hearing for November 30th.

Reporter Gets Run-Around

There were several questions left unanswered this week concerning traffic violations.

A GATEWAY reporter received an assignment to get a story on traffic violations, but received nothing but the old run-around.

With the assignment, it was suggested that the reporter talk with Mrs. Eunice Rowland who is in charge of traffic in the Student Personnel Office.

The reporter questioned her for information such as the average number of tickets given out each week, and the amount of violators for the different offenses.

Mrs. Rowland told the reporter to talk with the head of the Building and Grounds department, Clarence Lefler, because that was the department that issued the tickets.

When the reporter spoke with Mr. Lefler, he said that all his department did was write the tickets, and that they did not keep the records on them. Mr. Lefler suggested that the reporter should talk to Mrs. Rowland.

The reporter then decided to talk to a campus policeman to see if he could give any information on violations. When the reporter did, the campus policeman told him to see Mr. Lefler.

With this cooperation, the answers to the questions were unavailable.

Curtain Ready For Fall Play

"You Can't Take It With You," the University Theater's first production this season, opened last night at 8 o'clock in the Administration Building Auditorium.

Curtain time for tonight and tomorrow night's performances is 8:30 p.m.

The three-act comedy, co-authored by Moss Hart and George S. Kaufman, has a cast of 19 students.

Director of the comedy is Dr. Edwin Clark, professor of speech and director of the University Theater. Assistant director is John Culjet.

Tickets are available today from 8:30 to 11:30 a.m. in front of the Bookstore in the Student Center. There is no admission charge with an activity card; otherwise, the price is $1.50.

Tryouts for Show Coming Nov. 13-14

The date of the all-school Talent Show, Nov. 22, was announced at the Student Council meeting this week.

Shari Zagor, chairman of the show, reported tryouts will be held Nov. 13 and 14 at 3:30 p.m. in the Administration Building Auditorium. Each act must be limited to not more than six members, she said.

Homecoming reports also were presented by the various chairmen. The suggestion was raised that next year the dance should be held at a time when the football team can attend since this year's dance was held on a Friday evening preceding the Homecoming game. The suggestion was taken under advisement.

Another topic under discussion was the Student Council Convention at Emporia, Kan., Dec. 8. The group hopes to send several representatives, but definite plans have not yet been made.

All instrumental majors preparing to teach in the public schools are required to participate in marching band for a minimum of two semesters.

No student may major in a foreign language with less than a "C" average in all major courses.

1400 Students Affected in '62 By Probation Regulations

The supplement reads:

| Hours Attempted | Accumulative Average |
|-----------------|----------------------|
| 12-16 | 1.2 |
| 17-26 | 1.4 |
| 27-42 | 1.6 |
| 43-57 | 1.8 |
| 58 and over | 2.0 |

This means that for the hours attempted, the corresponding grade point must be earned.

This rule will be in effect for all students after June 1, 1963.

The second mistake in the story concerned "suspension after one semester . . ."

Dr. Harris noted that this is not always the case, and that each case is handled "individually."

"Although a person may not get off academic probation in one semester, there is nothing automatic about his suspension. The present position of the committee is that he will probably be suspended. But if he has made some sort of academic advancement toward getting off probation, this will be taken into consideration by the committee," Dr. Harris said.

Adrian Writes For Britannica

Omaha University's professor of Nebraska history, Frederick Adrian, has written two articles for the 1962 edition of the Encyclopedia Britannica.

The articles trace the history of Omaha and Council Bluffs giving brief information on industry, production, occupation, and railroads. The material was "strictly factual," he said.

Prof. Adrian did a longer selection for the Grolier Encyclopedia entitled, "People of the United States, dealing with the characteristics of the American population. The main interest is to portray the people in their daily lives, he said. The Grolier Encyclopedia will be published in the near future.

Currently Prof. Adrian is compiling information for a bibliography of theses written about Nebraska and Nebraskans. He is borrowing the theses from libraries across the nation and making a short analysis of each theses.

All grades reported by the faculty to the Registrar at the end of each semester become a part of the student's permanent record and are included in the computation of his quality points earned and his grade point average.

Statehood for Moosylvania! Cry Heard 'Round Country?

A handful of Omaha University students, accustomed to the usual pre-election campaigns, were jolted this week when the downtown area echoed with the Moosylvania fight song.

It all came about when the creator of television's "Bullwinkle Show," Jay Ward, buzzed by the OU campus on his cross-country tour to promote statehood for Moosylvania.

Ward, complete with his ambassador's costume (a Napoleonic-hat and sweat shirt), treated the OU bunch who followed him downtown to renditions of the Moosylvania national anthem and fight song from his "Moosemobile."

More to Come

If that wasn't enough, he stopped pedestrians to sign petitions to make Moosylvania the fifty-second state. (There was no mention of naming a fifty-first state.)

He's carrying his campaign from California to Washington, D.C., where he plans to file for statehood on November 8.

The OU bunch, aware of the international situation, was a bit shocked.

Ward said you can reach Moosylvania by going to a certain candy store in Minnesota near the Canadian border. The candyman will direct you to a tiny island located in the middle of a swamp.

That's Moosylvania!

Real Utopia?

He called it a "real utopia" and listed the following advantages:

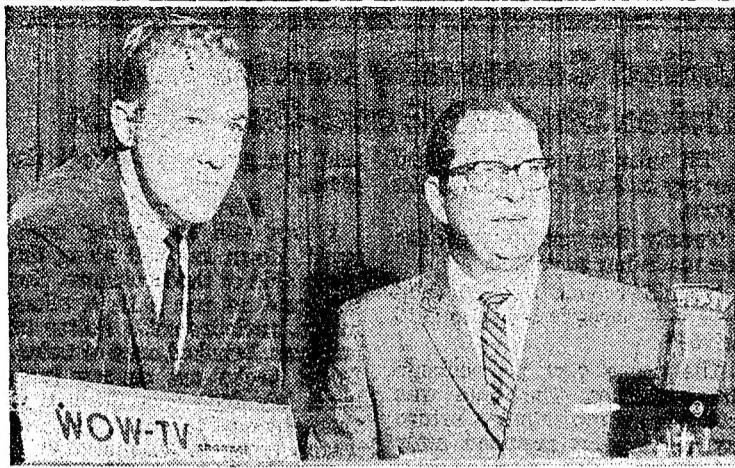

—no danger of nuclear attack because enemy aircraft, on surveying the terrain, would assume it had already been bombed and fly on.

—because of natural conditions, Moosylvania would qualify permanently as a disaster area and would be entitled to federal aid.

—no school integration problem. There are no schools. Ward said Moosylvania already has a medical-care-for-the-aged program.

"All persons over 75 will, upon entering the swamp, be issued a bandaid and a pack of Tums," he said.

Ward, assured that he had the support of four OU students and at least two downtown newsmen, climbed aboard the Moosemobile and headed on toward Washington in his campaign for Moosylvania statehood.

WOW-TV newsmen Steve Bell and Ray Clark put their talents to work by teaching speech classes at Omaha University.

WOW-TV Newsmen Play Teaching Role

"I'm sure I've seen him somewhere before."

A statement made many times this semester by students walking down halls of the Administration building. It could refer to an old friend of course, but more than likely the object of the questioning gaze is apt to be two Omaha newscasters, Ray Clark and Steve Bell.

Clark and Bell are filling a gap in the speech department's faculty by instructing two basic speech courses.

Chief Newscaster

Mr. Clark, Chief Newscaster for WOW radio and TV, said "teaching is one of the most thrilling experiences that I have ever had."

Since joining WOW in Meriden, Clark estimates that he has delivered nearly 25,000 newscasts.

Currently, he prepares and presents the "TV News Round-up" every Sunday through Friday at 10:00 p.m. on Channel 6, moderates the weekly "TV News Conference" and monthly "Your Question, Please" programs and narrates nearly all of the station's documentaries and special features.

Numerous Awards

Clark has personally won and contributed to the stations winning numerous awards. Some of the more notable are: a Peabody Award in 1947 for the radio documentary "Operation Big Muddy," a Gold Frame Award for the television documentary "Ceiling Unlimited" in 1959, a national "Special Event Award" for his coverage of the 1952 Missouri River floods, a Navy commendation for "outstanding service to the United States in war" after he broadcast nationwide a bomb run on Japan from a B-29, and witnessed the Japanese surrender, and a recent special, Berlin; "Key to Crisis" was named the "Best Educational Film or Tape" by the Omaha Advertising Club.

Satisfaction from Teaching

Teaching is not new to Clark however, he taught a similar speech course several years ago at OU. The OU speech department is one that the college can be extremely proud of he said, and I would enjoy continuing teaching there.

Radio Engineers Observe Capsule

The Institute of Radio Engineers is currently planning a tour of the Apollo Space Capsule, now under construction at McDonnell Aircraft Corporation in St. Louis, Nov. 16.

The November trip is planned for the purpose of observing the electronics and communications systems of the capsule.

John McMillan, chairman of the physics department, is official sponsor of the group. Donald Shult, assistant professor of physics, and James Hossack, assistant professor of engineering, are serving as science sponsor and engineering sponsor, respectively.

The next meeting will be held Nov. 6 at 7 p.m. in room 252 of the Applied Arts Building.

Graham—Teacher, Magician Entertains for Open Mission

Walter B. Graham, instructor of journalism, is to be master of ceremonies at the Open Door Mission's eighth anniversary dinner tomorrow night.

Mr. Graham has been master of ceremonies of the dinner for several years. He said he likes to do magic tricks while he is talking. The tricks' themes are centered on the purpose of the dinner—to raise money for the Mission and to create interest in it.

The dinner will be held at the Sheraton-Fontenelle at 6:30 p.m. "Anyone who is interested is welcome to come," Mr. Graham said. The dinner costs $2.50.

Master of Ceremonies

Mr. Graham often appears as a master of ceremonies at banquets, combining his duties with his magic act. He has performed as a magician for many local organizations. These include church banquets, clubs and the Cub Scouts. For six years he has entertained children at the Dundee Kiwanis Christmas party.

Interested in magic since he was 12, Mr. Graham has won top awards from the Society of American Magicians for his floating cane routine and a golf ball manipulation. He is a past-president of the Omaha Magic Society.

Children Tough Audiences

Children are tough audiences, he said. The easiest are "doctors, lawyers, engineers—any group with a highly technical and logical mind. The kids react illogically; that's what makes them so tough."

Mr. Graham has presented more than 1,500 shows—50 or 75 per year before audiences ranging from a dozen or more at birthday parties to 2,000 at national conventions.

A modern-day magician would not dream of pulling a rabbit out of a hat, Mr. Graham said. "Magic has changed as much during the past 30 years as the Model A."

Student Pubs Set Balloons Skyward

By Marilou Thibault

"Up, up and away . . ." This might have been the theme song of the Student Publications Department as they blew up 2,500 balloons which were released at the kickoff of the OU Homecoming game Oct. 20.

Some of the helium-filled balloons had postcards attached, and when released, went flying off to parts of Kansas and Iowa. Finders of the balloons were requested to fill out the information on the back of the card and send them back to OU. Cards were received from Glenwood, Iowa; Nortonville, Kansas; Sidney, Iowa; Offutt Air Force Base; Lake Shawnee, Topeka, Kansas; Whiting, Kansas; Elmwood Park, and oh yes, one enterprising individual mailed the card from a balloon found at the OU game.

This is the second year the balloons have been released; last year, however, only one reply from Storm Lake, Iowa, was received.

Rasho-Mon' Film Coming Nov. 9

The film classic "Rasho-Mon" will be shown in the Conference Center, November 9 at 8 p.m. This program replaces the Edward L. Freer talk previously scheduled for this date.

"Rasho-Mon" is a psychological study of a crime. The four people concerned tell their stories—a husband and wife who were attacked by a criminal, the criminal himself and an eye-witness.

Bird Banding Conf. To Be Held Nov. 3

The Annual Inland Bird Banding Conference will be held November 3 and 4 in the Eppley Conference Center.

Ornithologists from all over the nation will present papers on bird banding via tele-lecture.

The evening banquet address will be given by Dr. Robert Gammell, Kenmore, North Dakota. Registration for the Saturday evening banquet ended Wednesday, Oct. 31.

Non-members who wish to join the Inland Bird Banding Association should send $2.00 to Karl Bartel, Treasurer, 2528 West Collins Street, Blue Island, Illinois.

United Community Service Drive Makes Student Good-Guy—Again

"I'll take this one," I heard her say as I walked through the doors.

Twenty feet outside the door she made her approach.

"Wouldn't you like to help —— sorority help the UCS drive?"

The scene was just outside the bookstore. The time was 8:07 p.m., three minutes before my night class resumed after break.

"You'd like to help wouldn't you?" she asked in a persuasive tone.

Turning to meet her face to face, I tried to explain that I had already given to the drive that morning.

"All I'm asking for is a penny," she said, "only a little ol' penny." Her plea this time possessed the charm usually found only on a southern campus.

"Well," I began to say as she pressed forward and I began retreating backwards, "I'm not at all rich, I have given already and I'm going to be late for class."

Silent Movies?

I was still retreating backwards down the hall along the south side of the bookstore. She looked at me with a silent movie, melodramatic flutter of her eyes. I choked once or twice. Sweat broke out on my forehead. My face was flushed. It was obvious to me than, she wasn't going to let me go—not until contributing again.

Finally she had me up against the wall—in a corner. I was like the proverbial painter—stuck.

"Just a penny," she said pathetically and, with that flutter of her eyes again.

By now it was 8:10 and class had begun. I had to give in, I just had to.

I told my pursuer that I had just purchased a book in the bookstore for forty-five cents. All I had left was my last nickel.

Nickles Accepted

"That'll be just fine," she swooned.

I reached in my pocket and took out the nickel. With my sweaty little hand shaking nervously, I dropped that nickel in her protruding glass jar.

"Why, thank you," she exclaimed in delight.

She smiled, turned and walked away.

I was free! I could return to class.

Walking down the hall toward the exit and wiping my brow, I couldn't help but think—I was a "Good Guy" once again.

Speakeasies Add Additional Sessions To Handle Crowds

The Omaha University Speech Department is sponsoring an additional session of the popular Monday Speakeasies in the Student Center building.

Doctor Aldrich Paul, head of the Speech Department, said the additional session was set up to accommodate an overflow in the regularly scheduled meeting.

The new Speakeasy is held at 12:30 p.m. on Monday. The other two are at 11:30 a.m. and 6 p.m., also on Monday. The 6 p.m. meeting was set up by Warren Gore, instructor of the Advanced Platform Speaking class held Monday nights.

Doctor Paul emphasized that all three of these sessions are open to all students. He said interested persons do not need to be speech majors or members of speech classes.

Dr. Paul described the Speakeasies as "casual get-togethers for people interested in improving their public speaking." He said the purpose of the luncheon session "is to give people additional experience in thinking on their feet and speaking their ideas very effectively."

The Speakeasies are not formally organized. Dr. Paul said the group is "proud of the fact that it functions without a constitution, officers or dues." He said the informal gatherings function only on the interest of those attending.

ISA Members Journey to Estes

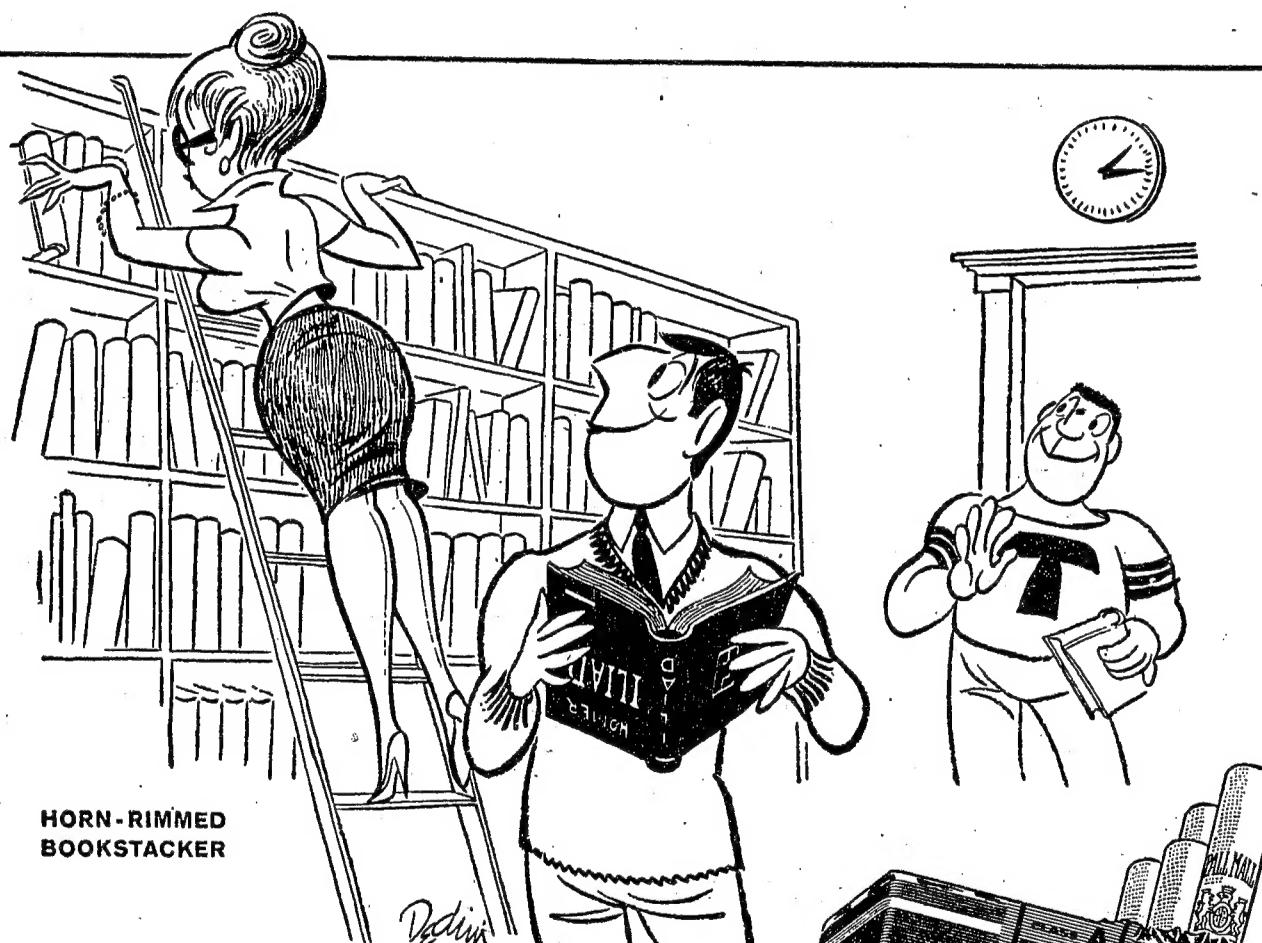

Three members of the Omaha University chapter of Independent Students Association are in Estes Park, Colorado attending the National ISA Convention.

Liz Vinski, president of the OU Chapter of ISA, Kathy Roberts and Dorothy Patach, national ISA advisor, are attending the three day convention.

The convention, which runs November 1, 2 and 3, will feature various workshops. A National Sweetheart will be crowned at the convention.

The OU chapter will enter a display depicting the various aspects of university life.

Pall Mall Presents— GIRL WATCHER'S GUIDE

CAMPUS TYPE III

The Bookstacker serves the cause of classical literature in various ways. Perhaps the least of these is in keeping the rows of books properly aligned and the jackets free of dust.

Her most important contribution is in improving the environment for study, enhancing the halls of learning with her own classical form. Many a college man has discovered a previously unfeasted craving for knowledge simply because he received his copy of Homer from the hand of a deep-breathing redhead who sighed, "I think Homer is the most!" Yes, it pays to take a good look at the classics now and then.

Among cigarettes, Pall Mall is a classic—famous length, fine tobacco . . . no flat "filtered-out" flavor, no dry "smoked-out" taste. Try Pall Mall and see!

Pall Mall's natural mildness is so good to your taste!
So smooth, so satisfying,
so downright smokeable!

Question of the Week

QUESTION: Do you participate in student elections at OU? Why or why not.

Milda Markus,
junior, biology

Milda Markus, junior, biology:
"Yes, because I like to see our candidates get elected, if possible!"

Mike Brennan, freshman, business administration:

"Yes, because I feel that the way I can have an opportunity to have my opinion voiced in student government is to vote for someone I believe thinks the way I do. By the way, Greeks bug me."

Gladys Briggs,
freshman, art

Gladys Briggs, freshman, art:
"Yes, because I feel that as a freshman I should have a voice in the offices that my fellow students hold since they are representing me. I make my choice mainly from finding out each candidate's qualifications from the posters and voting for the one I think is best qualified."

Doug Primmer, senior, business adm.

Doug Primmer, senior, business administration:
"Yes, but I don't take them too seriously because I think most of them are popularity contests and don't prove anything."

Charlene Munson,
junior, business education

Charlene Munson, junior, business education:

"Yes, because I think it is the responsibility of every college student to vote. I choose the one to vote from the qualifications listed on the bulletin board and from personal contact in classes. I wonder about campaigning here. I think a person should be judged as an individual rather than as an affiliate."

Bob Langenbach,
junior, chemistry

Bob Langenbach, junior, chemistry:

"Yes, but not because the campaigners 'hound' me, I vote because I know certain people who are running and believe they can do a good job."

Faith Rasmussen,
sophomore, education

Faith Rasmussen, sophomore, education:

"Yes, because I think that everyone in the University should participate in student government even though they are not affiliated with a sorority or fraternity that has candidates up for election. I vote for those who, in my own opinion, are best qualified to hold office."

Lonnie L.
Moseley,
bootstrapper

Lonnie L. Moseley, bootstrapper:

"I did because I feel that I am a student rather than a bootstrapper, and therefore should participate in school activities to a certain extent. I feel that the type of campaigning used at OU is good because it stimulates persons to vote who might not otherwise do so. In addition, I like the activity here on election day, because, in my opinion, the personality of a school is reflected by the activities on campus."

Willie Wakefield,
sophomore,
psychology

Willie Wakefield, sophomore, psychology:

"Yes, I participate very actively in student elections here. My primary reason is that it gives me an opportunity to meet people. However, I think that before a person votes for a candidate, he should make it his obligation to meet this person and decide for himself whether this person strikes him as the type of individual he would want to represent him. I think we should take an example from some of the larger colleges who have rallies where the candidates can speak for themselves."

Joana Witherbee,
senior,
education

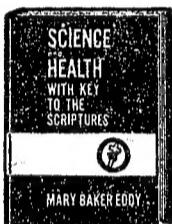

Joana Witherbee, senior, education:

"Yes, I vote because I believe that the people who are deserving should be elected, but they won't be elected if people who know they are deserving don't vote for them. I decide whom to vote for mostly by personal contact with the candidates; if not, by reputation."

Chi O's Celebrate At Eleusinia Picnic

Chi Omegas will celebrate their history at their Fall Eleusinia picnic Wednesday, Nov. 7.

Liz Encel is chairman of the picnic. Her assistant is Donna Anderson.

The picnic for actives and pledges will be held at Dewey Park, 550 Turner Blvd., at 6 p.m. There will be a meeting after the picnic.

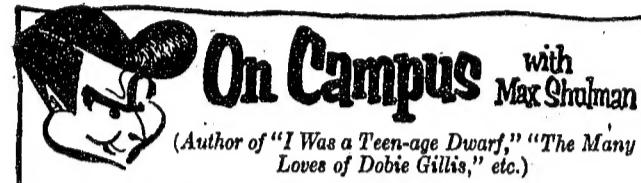

Each year four degree-credit courses are presented on television in cooperation with station KMTV.

OU Stages Move To Topeka, Kan.

The band, Indianans, cheerleaders and OUampi are migrating to Topeka, Kansas today to back the football team in the game with Washburn College.

The band and Indianans will share the half-time performance with Washburn's band. OU's band will portray some of Omaha's points of interest in an invitation for Washburn students to visit us.

The groups will return tomorrow morning.

EAT, SLEEP, AND MATRICULATE

The trouble with early morning classes is that you're too sleepy. At late morning classes you're too hungry. At early afternoon classes you're too-logy. At late afternoon classes you're too hungry again. The fact is—and we might as well face it—there is no good time of day to take a class.

What shall we do then? Abandon our colleges to the ivy? I say no! I say America did not become the hope of mankind and the world's largest producer of butterfats and tallow by running away from a fight!

If you're always too hungry or too sleepy for class, then let's hold classes when you're not too hungry or sleepy: namely, when you're eating or sleeping.

Classes while eating are a simple matter. Just have a lecturer lecture while the eaters eat. But watch out for noisy food. I mean who can hear a lecturer lecture when everybody is crunching celery or matzo or like that? Serve quiet stuff—like anchovy paste on a doughnut, or steaming bowls of lamb fat.

And kindly observe silence while lighting your post-prandial Marlboro Cigarette. Don't be striking kitchen matches on your jeans. Instead carry an ember from the dormitory fireplace in your purse or pocket. Place the Marlboro against the ember. Light it quietly. Smoke it quietly. Oh, I know I ask a great deal! I know that one's natural instinct upon encountering Marlboro's fine flavor and filter is to throw back one's head and bellow great, rousing cries of joy. But you must not. You must contain your ecstasy, lest you disturb the lecturing lecturer. You can, if you like, permit yourself a few small shudders of pleasure as you smoke, but take care not to wear garments which will set up a clatter when you shudder—like taffeta, for example, or knee cymbals.

Let us turn now to the problem of learning while sleeping. First, can it be done?

Yes, it can. Psychologists have proved that the brain is definitely able to assimilate information during sleep. Take, for instance, a recent experiment conducted by a leading Eastern university (Stanford). A small tape recorder was placed under the pillow of the subject, a freshman named Glebe Sigafoos. When Glebe was fast asleep, the recorder was turned on. Softly, all through the night, it repeated three statements in Glebe's slumbering ear:

1. Herbert Spencer lived to the age of 109 and is called "The Founder of English Eclectic Philosophy."
2. The banana plant is not a tree but a large perennial herb.
3. The Archduke Ferdinand was assassinated in 1914 at Sarajevo by a young nationalist named Mjilas Cvetnic, who has been called "The Trigger of World War I."

When Glebe awoke in the morning, the psychologists said to him, "Herbert Spencer lived to the age of 109. What is he called?"

Glebe promptly replied, "Perennial Herb."

Next they asked him, "What has Mjilas Cvetnic been called?"

Replied Glebe, "Perennial Serb."

Finally they said, "Is the banana plant a tree?"

But Glebe, exhausted from the long interrogation, had fallen back asleep, where he is to this day.

Variety of Bootstrappers Brighten Campus

Bootstrappers not only come in different shapes and sizes—they also come in different sexes!

There are currently six female bootstrappers enrolled as full-time students at Omaha University.

One of the six female bootstrappers remarked that many OU students expressed surprise to find that there "is such a thing as a female bootstrapper."

All but one of these women are in nursing. The sixth, Captain Jean M. Trask, Women's Army Corps, is studying sociology.

Browning, Major, Army Nurse Corps; Marguerite Drysdale, Captain, Air Force Nurse Corps; Dorcas Scollay, Captain, Army

Major Valerie P. Cicogna, Air Force Nursing Corps, is here on temporary duty (TDY) from Langley AFB in Virginia to get her bachelor of science degree in nursing. Her specialty is an operating room supervisor. Major Cicogna has had 18 years active duty with the USAF. Her last overseas duty was in Germany where she spent three years. She also served as a flight nurse and did duty during the Korean campaign.

Psychiatric Specialty
Major Ann Browning, Army Nursing Corps, is on TDY here from Walter Reed Medical Center in Washington, D.C. She has seen 18 years active duty with the Army. Her specialty is psychiatric nursing. Major Browning served in the China-India-Burma command.

Captain Dorcas Scollay, Army Nursing Corps, is here on TDY from Fitzsimmons Army Hospital in Denver, Colorado. Before her duty there she served overseas in Heidelberg, Germany. Captain Scollay has had seven years active duty. Her specialty is pediatrics.

Captain Marguerite Drysdale, Air Force Nursing Corps, is here on TDY from Sheppard AFB, Wichita Falls, Texas. She has served six years active duty as a general nurse. She spent her overseas duty in Germany and Spain.

"Mother" to 98 Girls

Captain Jean M. Trask, Women's Army Corps, is "in-between" stations. She was last stationed at Fort Leavenworth, Kansas, and after finishing school will report to WAC Training Center at Ft. McClellan, Alabama. Captain Trask has done all of her college work since being in the service. She served enlisted duty for the first eight years and then received a direct commission. Her area of study is sociology and she has spent her entire service career with troops "either in training or in command." Captain Trask has the distinction of having been "mother of 98 girls ranging in age from 18 to 61 years old."

Goal of UCS Give, Not Win

Clutching jars and cans in their little fists, campus organizations launched the OU United Community Service Drive. Spurred with enthusiasm members of various groups were out to help their candidate win in the "Cutest Pan and Ugliest Man" contest.

But winning a contest is just part of a bigger reason for the enthusiasm. These students want to help. They know what the UCS is and what its goals are.

They know that the annual UCS drive is a job worth doing. And when it is all over, no matter which groups win the Cutest Pan and the Ugliest Man, they all have a pride in their part.

The UCS goal this year is $4.1 million for its member organizations in the Omaha and Council Bluffs area. It is a dual purpose goal including money for operating expenses, and also money to build new facilities and improve old ones.

Give Once More

So if you have been approached by a cute co-ed, or a not-so-cute fraternity man, with the plea, "How about being a Good Guy?" then give. If you have given once before or twice or three times, give a little bit more. Every little bit counts, and every little bit makes you that much more of a Good Guy.

The Cutest Pan and Ugliest Man Contest is an annual affair on the OU campus. It is sponsored by the University Service Club under the direction of Dr. R. Hlavac.

The committee for the drive is headed by Lynn Dyba, chairman, and Pat Chleborad, assistant chairman.

Don Houghton will emcee a dance to be held in the Student Center Ballroom this afternoon from 3 to 5 p.m. The Cutest Pan, Ugliest Man winners will be announced during the dance.

The candidates for the Cutest Pan are: Claudia May, Alpha Xi Delta; Kathy Bowman, Chi Omega; Maureen Mathews, Independent Students' Association; Laima Runcis, Sigma Kappa and Janet Grossman, Zeta Tau Alpha.

The candidates for Ugliest Man are: Gary Hannibal, Lambda Chi Alpha; George Jesko, "O" Club; Lynn Olson, Pi Kappa Alpha; Terry O'Connor, Sigma Phi Epsilon; Richard Russell, Tau Kappa Epsilon, and Joe Morocco, Theta Chi.

Last Year-$1,730.88

The contest last year netted $1,730.88. The UCS goal was $2 million for the Omaha-Council Bluffs area. The winning organizations were Sigma Kappa orioity, and Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity.

This year the UCS goal is double that of last year. Everyone is out to double last year's $17 hundred. One campus fraternity alone is trying to break the thousand dollar mark.

Help the organizations do it. Give generously. You can still donate until twelve noon today at the table in front of the book store in the Student Center.

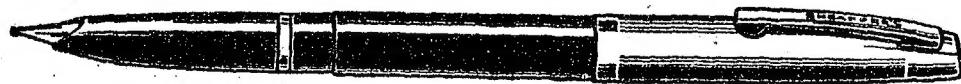

Lost and Found: Clue, but Whose?

"FOUND One clue: 'Cox wants a taco (when ordering give name).'" By Chi Omegas. Information wanted."

During the Chi Omega pledges' skip Oct. 24, the actives found the above clue. It was written on a white napkin with a black ball point pen. In the upper right hand corner was the number four. However, as they found out later, the clue was not one of theirs.

The Chi O's would like to know whose clue it is and will keep its hiding place a secret. Would the owners please contact the Chi O's or put a note in their box in the Student Center.

Bill Bunetta Drops First Game, Gets Sneaky to Win Match Over Epstein

"Don't feel sorry for me, I get sneaky," mused Bill Bunetta, of the AMF Staff of Champions, as his defeat seemed inevitable in the first bowling match at Omaha University Monday.

The first match proved successful for Brad Epstein with 215 to Bunetta's 168. However, Bill did get sneaky and came out victor with a 223 and a 236 in the three game series.

... Championship form.

Bunetta has many victories to his credit and has bowled in many places all over the United States and foreign places such as Bermuda, Australia and Europe. In 1960 he was a finalist in the World's Invitational. winner in the PBA Fairless Hills Open, Michigan State All-Events Champion in 1954, member of the five world's Championship Teams and a member of the CIC (Classic) League and the Fresno Bombers of the National Bowling League in 1962.

Ten "300's"

Bill has a ten year average of 208, with ten "300" games, two of which were sanctioned. His highest TV series is a 305 and his highest sanctioned series is an 836.

Bill, a native of Detroit and father of four, feels that his biggest thrill in bowling came when he made the PBA All-Star Tournament finals six times and when he got his two sanctioned "300" games.

After the ninth frame of the first game of four at OU, Bill joked: "I'm known as a strike shooter. Look at that, only one strike." He wasn't kidding after looking at the score board with a lonely strike in the third frame surrounded by many spares.

The OU lanes were not strange to Bunetta. He bowled on them when they were at the Paramount Theater, home of the Omaha Packers when they were here.

Undivided attention was given during his explanation of various techniques which were very beneficial to both advanced and beginning bowlers.

He said that most mistakes in bowling are hitting the pins too high. "Play them light," he added.

Uniformity Wanted

The AMF Staff of Champions travels to many places offering free instruction to bowling instructors. "We are looking for uniformity in teaching other instructors," he stated. "Different methods are being worked out but as yet the final answer is still to be answered," he added.

The strange part of his bowling career is that he started at the age of 19 years. He participated in softball, basketball, soccer and hockey and when bowling came to his fancy, he followed Ned Day's technique.

Last year he was 15th in the nation in money and averages after bowling in only half of the tournament. He also is the only man in Michigan's history to win in all four classifications during various years.

In the 1952-53-54 seasons, Bill bowled with the great Don Carter. It was that first year of bowling that gave Don national recognition for his winnings.

Advice for the beginner? "Keep thumbs up."

M&M's Have Full Schedule

The M & M's, the Women's Physical Education Majors and Minors Club, plan four important events for the month of November.

A business meeting will be held next Wednesday at 6:30 p.m. in the women's PE hut. Transportation, lodging, and other details pertaining to the American Association for Health, Physical Education, and Recreation State Convention in Lincoln, Nov. 9th & 10th, will be discussed at the business meeting.

M&M's planning to attend the Convention must sign the list in the women's PE hut by next Tuesday. Lodging for Friday night is expected to cost $1.95. All M & M's who have paid their dues are invited to attend the Convention.

Wednesday, Nov. 14th, will find the M & M's face-to-face with returning alumnae in the annual Alumni Volleyball Game. Women graduating from the women's PE department are invited each year to return to the University for volleyball competition with the M & M's. Activities for the evening will begin at 6:30.

On the following evening, the M & M's will attend a steak dinner with the Men's Physical Education Club.

ZTA Wins by Forfeit

Zeta Tau Alpha chalked up a win in Women's Recreation Association volleyball competition as ISA forfeited to them on Wednesday, Oct. 24th. After losing the first game to Chi Omega with a score of 8-4, Unaffiliated came back with victories of 10-5 and 13-6 to win the match on Thursday. On Tuesday, Chi Omega retaliated with scores of 11-3 and 15-8 over Sigma Kappa.

Next week's schedule will find the Zeta Tau Alpha-Chi Omega match on Tuesday; Alpha Xi Delta will meet Unaffiliated on Wednesday; and Sigma Kappa will face ISA on Thursday.

Basketball Managers and Players meeting on Nov. 9 at 1:00 in Rm. 301 of Student Center. Archery will be held on Nov. 2 and 9.

OU's Conference Leaders Tackle Ichabods in Migration Tilt Tonite

By Mike Moran

OU's Indians are out to strengthen their lead in the Central Intercollegiate Conference in tonight's game against Washburn.

This game is the students' annual migration, but for those not making the trip to Topeka, the game is broadcast on radio WOW at 7:30 p.m.

The Ichabods have won four and lost three games this season and are sporting a 2-1 CIC record. OU leads the Conference with a 2-0-1 mark and is 5-1-1 over-all.

| St. Benedict's | 0 | 3 | 0 |

Omaha University, using the speed of Roger Sayers and the deadly passing arm of Carl Meyers, mauled St. Benedict's, 39-7, in a CIC game at Atchison, Kansas, last Saturday night.

The win, coupled with underdog Emporia State's 14-13 upset win over Fort Hays St., vaulted the Indians into the CIC lead and gave them a big boost in their battle for a first conference title. Omaha must get by Washburn tonight and Pittsburg State on November 10 in order to get the job done and give the Indians a 7-1 mark, best since 1956.

The Indians displayed their most versatile attack of the year as they pounded the Ravens for 211 yards on the ground and went overhead for 185, their best aerial production of the season.

The passing of Carl Meyers accounted for three OU scores and set up a fourth. Meyers alternated his tosses all night between Junior Jim Kettle and CIC leader Paul Blazevich.

Meyers to Blazevich The junior quarterback tossed a 36 yarder to Blazevich just before the end of the second quarter and then hit the Wall, Pennsylvania native with a 12-yard strike in the second quarter to account for Omaha's 13-0 lead at the half.

The lead might have been larger had not two OU drives been stopped by costly personal fouls and another pass from Meyers to Blazevich nullified when the Referee blew the ball dead when Louie Miloni faked into the line.

After the intermission, the Indians struck for three third period touchdowns to put the game out of reach.

Lee Milner fooled the Raven secondary and slipped behind to gather in a 44-yard toss from Meyers to make it 20-0 as Meyers kicked his second point after touchdown.

Miloni scored from the one after a sustained drive aided by two fine catches by Kettle, who went both ways, defense and offense for a good portion of the game. Meyers failed from placement and it was 26-0.

Following that score, Omaha fans were treated to what they had been waiting for all season. St. Benedict's failed to mount a drive and punted from their own 34.

Rocket Roger Sayers gathered in the ball on his own 38, reversed his field and took off some 62 yards down the sidelines for his first TD of the year. Again the kick was wide and Omaha led, 32-0.

Sayers Scores Again

The Rocket struck again moments later when, after an exchange of punts, OU scrimmaged from its own 29. Taking a pitchout from veteran Dave Gibson, the fleet halfback broke through the Raven secondary and went 71 yards to score. Miloni ran for the point and it was 39-0.

The Ravens averted a shutout moments later when they scored after an Omaha fumble gave them possession on the OU 24.

Once again Omaha's outstanding defensive line made coach Don Watchorn proud as they limited the Raven backs to 34 yards on the ground and repeatedly dumped them for big losses. The beefy OU line had limited opponents to only 85 yards per game on the ground before the contest.

The Indians' pass defense also showed improvement for the second straight week. Coach Kenny Fischer's men limited the Ravens to 143 yards via the aerial route, best in weeks.

The OU offense was at its best for the second straight week also. The Indians used several pass receivers for the first time and showed ability to score from any place on the field.

Sig Eps Win Relay, Zekes Close to Title

Last Friday the Four Mile Relay was held on the University track and a Sig Ep team composed of Don Henkel, Joe Johnson, Larry Hammer and Loren Drum covered the distance in record time of 21:51.4. Winners of the event last year, they eclipsed their previous time by approximately 17 seconds. Pi Kap placed second and Sig Ep II took third. Lambda Chi and TKE were fourth and fifth respectively.

Zeke Moe Joes continued their defense of the Intramural Flag Football title by adding another victory to their undefeated string and now hold a record of 7-0. One more victory would secure the crown, with only two games remaining on their schedule. The worst they can do is tie. TKE and Pi Kap are close competitors with 6-2 records.

Eager Wrestlers Conditioning Prior to Organized Practicing

With Coach Al Caniglia busy with football chores, a few of this year's wrestlers are taking it upon themselves to get in shape before official practice begins. Caniglia, who handles the football and wrestling coaching will not be able to give any time to wrestling until the end of the grid season.

The coach plans on Monday, November 12 for the opening of official wrestling practice. In the meantime, about five men are running, climbing the rope and having light workouts with the fundamentals of the sport in the field house each afternoon. John De George, Ken Netwig, Chuck Saxton, Mike Mannon, and George Crenshaw are some of the men who plan on being in shape at the start.

The schedule for the 1962-63 season is:

- Dec. 11, Graceland College-Omaha
- 14, Colorado Mines—Omaha
- 15, N. W. Missouri State—Maryville
- Jan. 5, Northern Illinois—Omaha
- 8, Graceland College—Lamoni
- 12, Moorehead State—Omaha
- Feb. 9, Ft. Hays State—Hays

Acting Wrestling Coach George Crenshaw gives instructions to Chuck Saxton and Ken Netwig during pre-season workout.

- 15, South Dakota State—Omaha
- 18, State College of Iowa—Cedar Falls

- 25, University of Nebraska—Omaha

Captain Crenshaw said that even though official practice begins November 12, that all men hoping to make the team should report to the south side of the locker room at 3:30 next Monday. George is taking over the handling of the team until Caniglia is available for practice.

Cross Country Meets Held Here

Two big cross country meets will be held at Omaha University in November.

Tomorrow the Mid-West Amateur Athletic Union meet will take place over a four mile course through Elmwood Park. Runners from Nebraska, Western Iowa and South Dakota will participate.

Gene Somer, Omaha U cross country runner for several years, will participate unattached. Somer is running independently to preserve eligibility that would be sacrificed by this one meet.

November 25, will find the N.A.I.A. meet at Elmwood over the same course. Runners from all over the country will participate. Schools that have applied represent the states of Illinois, Kansas, Indiana and Nebraska. Applications from those wishing to enter will be accepted until Nov. 12.

Last year's winning team and first place runner, Central Connecticut State and Jim Keefe, have not yet applied. According to Meet Director Ernie Gorr, State and Keefe will attend.

The outlook for a cross country team from Omaha is dim according to Coach Lloyd Cardwell. The runners out for the team still lack a sufficient number. Coach Cardwell pointed out that these runners will have a good jump on the indoor track season.

School Administrators and school board members are cordially invited to make full use of the services offered by the Office of Teacher Placement in their efforts to secure competent teachers for their schools.
